Reference for Mathieu De Brito

To whom it may concern:

Mathieu De Brito was part of the dynamic team here at PPLCONNECT as a full-time Android developer. Mathieu was an amazing addition to the team in terms of his programming expertise, but as well as his team spirit.

As part of the accomplishments of Mathieu here at PPLCONNECT, he created the first generation of our database and server system. He also was the lead on the Android development and created our beta version of the app. Mathieu took the time to build clean, well-organized code to ensure others could work easily on the project which did us well when we transitioned the Android development to another person on the team.

Mathieu's professional skills include that he is an intelligent and motivated individual, but still very approachable and a team player. In his time here he was core to the team dynamic, participating in many ways, like social activities. Unfortunately his employment term was cut short because of family obligations, but otherwise he would likely still part of our team.

If you would like additional information about Mathieu, please feel free to contact me at +1 514-518-8709 or Denzil@pplconnect.mobi.
